The main difference is that mechanical engineering and production teaches how to design and produce industrial spare parts while industrial engineering and maintenance teaches how to assemble and repair the factory and plane parts, and to set up the ^{electrical} electrical system and repair it in case of need.

Q What is a factory

A factory is an industrial unit where we process raw materials into finished or semi-finished products and also where we can produce energy.

Note: When the adjective is directly related to the noun it qualifies, we place it just before that noun

2) But when the adjective is related to the noun it qualifies by the copula "be" we place it after the noun and after the copula "be"

Ex: the problem is economic the man is tall

Adjective

Adjectives can be used to describe the qualities of someone or something independently or in comparison to someone or something else

Ex:

I like old cars

the boy is tall ~~not~~ thin May is hotter than January

Use

Adjectives modify or describe nouns and pronouns. They can be attributive (occurring before the noun) or predicative (occurring after the noun). Predicative adjectives typically follow a linking verb (such as forms of the Verb "to be") that connect the subject of the sentence to the adjectives

Ex: Attributive and predicative adjectives The brave soldier has returned this intelligent student has invented a new set (attributive self) this student is intelligent (predicative self)

Note: While most adjectives can occur in both the attributive and predicative positions, some can only be used in one position. For example the word "main" can only be used in the only be used in the predicative position

the main reason is that - (but we cannot say the reason is main) the man is ~~asleep~~ asleep (endormi) but we cannot say "the asleep man"

grammar: Simple past

It is time we for completed actions. The action it prepares is completely finished at the time of speaking.

The simple past, also called preterit, expresses a past action or state. These actions are completely finished and their dates are explicitly, overtly or implicitly, overtly, mentioned. That is why the simple past is introduced by past dates, past time marks 1972, May 15,
